

Chambers and Partners named Latitude a globally-ranked legal staffing company

LATITUDELEGAL.COM

Chambers rankings are awarded after rigorous research into the services provided to corporate legal departments and law firms, including speaking directly with clients about the quality of services delivered.

- "Their network and knowledge of in-house legal teams and what makes great in-house lawyers are what sets Latitude apart. Having former general counsels involved in these searches is a huge factor in being able to easily communicate the requirements of a new role or position and have that be completely understood to find great candidates."
- "Latitude's network of flexible legal talent is head and shoulders above that of others. The quantity and quality of candidates are truly remarkable."
- "Latitude offers a singular service for temporary staffing. Their candidates are smart and professional. We consistently depend on Latitude for additional support because the quality of their candidates is unmatched."
- "We operate in a niche industry, and they have done a nice job threading the needle to find qualified candidates."
- "The quality of service, swift communications, responsiveness, and top-notch work product are very strong in my experience."
- "We'd highlight the personalization of their service, quality of staff, and their commitment to supporting their attorney so they could thrive on our team."
- "I was impressed by their attorneys' ability to advise on complex matters."
